

Making their shot count

In this age of electronic transactions, there's still something that feels special about pulling out your checkbook and sending a check—by mail—to a good cause. Some letter carriers donate to COLCPE with a one-time contribution.

Perhaps they were inspired to give at a COLCPE fundraising event or political rally. Maybe it was an appeal from a fellow union member. Or perhaps they were outraged by reports of attacks on collective-bargaining rights or their jobs and benefits. Whatever the inspiration, these letter carriers provide a healthy portion of COLCPE's largesse.

This section lists active and retired members whose donations were recording in 2012. Donors who made one-time donations in addition to automatic donations through payroll deduction or deduction from an annuity or bank account are listed, with their donation amount reflecting all donations, in the automatic donation section beginning on page 26.

* This list includes donors whose contributions were recorded without enough information to establish their identity fully. An example would be a money order accompanied by a name but no hometown or branch number. Another could be the use of a nickname not recorded in NALC's computer database, or a name that is shared by more than one member. Some may be Auxiliary members who did not identify themselves as such, or other supporters who failed to make their status clear.

COLCPE

Group Contributions

Giving it the team effort

A union is all about working together toward a common goal. When letter carriers apply all of our strength with a single purpose in mind, we accomplish wondrous things. We raise millions for the Muscular Dystrophy Association and we collect millions of pounds of food through the NALC Food Drive.

The same goes for COLCPE. Letter carriers throughout the country took leadership roles to organize events, contests and challenges, or just passed the hat, to raise money for a group donation to COLCPE. Most had some fun in the process. Several auxiliary branches also showed their support through a group donation. Their generous support shows their collective commitment to making our voice heard in Washington and keeping our union strong.

This list shows group donations in the order they were received in 2012, unless otherwise noted.

Note: Under federal law, special record-keeping regulations cover how money raised by groups must be submitted to COLCPE. No personal or branch checks are permitted. Money from group collections must be sent to COLCPE at National Headquarters by money order or cashier's check, along with the date of the collection and a description of the event.
